GAMM factory to open Dec. 2nd

GAMM, Inc., the New Hampshire garment manufacturer, signed a lease this week with the owners of the Bethel Mall to lease 3,800 square feet of space in the mall. The lease runs for two years and is renewable.

Jeannette Demers, plant manager of GAMM's Berlin plant, who will oversee the Bethel operation, was happy that the negotiations over the lease were finally over. "We're officially going to open December 2nd," she said. In the meantime, the company will be putting in machinery.

The Bethel plant will do stitching of some garments for the Berlin plant. It will employ 25 to 30 people. Plant Manager Demers said anyone interested in working in the plant should fill out an application after the plant becomes operational Dec. 2.

Directors' meeting

The SAD #44 Board of Directors held a special meeting on Monday evening of this week in the library at Telstar Regional High School.

The directors met with Phil Rea of Rea Associates, architects for the proposed new elementary school in Woodstock.

Included among the issues engendering discussion during the session was the configuration of the roof over the proposed building's main entrance, laminated wood beams versus structural steel in the all-purpose room, as well as a request for sinks in individual classrooms.

The building is proposed to be of masonry veneer construction. The roof is to have a pitch of one-half inch per foot and to be covered with a .06 inch rubber film held in place by loose gravel.

Mr. Rea said if all goes according to a preliminary schedule, the project could go out to bid in March, with construction possibly getting underway in late spring, with occupancy possible by September of 1987.

A majority of the directors favored the plans as presented by Mr. Rea, and authorized his proceeding. The suggestion of sinks in the individual classrooms is to be included in the request for bids as an alternative. There are many items associated with the building project that will continue to be a matter of board concern, and will require action by the directors in the future.

Waterford youth jailed in Florida in Stoneham killing

Raphael Neil Bradley, Jr., 19, of North Waterford, was arrested in Sanford, Fla., last night and was being held for the murder of an East Stoneham man in Paris last weekend.

Bradley had originally been stopped by police in that central Florida city on a routine traffic check. When stopped, young Bradley was driving the dead man's pickup. He was expected to be arraigned today (Wednesday). Two area teenaged girls travelling with Bradley were taken into custody later, and arrangements were being made to send them home.

Oxford County police have so far declined to discuss the evidence they have gathered linking Bradley with the killing of Russell G. Stevens, 31, of East Stoneham.

They would not confirm or deny the supposition that the murdered man had given a lift to young Bradley, who lived with his father and younger brother in a rented trailer along Route 118—the route Stevens would have taken to his job in South Paris.

Mr. Stevens was last seen alive Friday continued on Page Three

From the West Paris town office

The West Paris Board of Selectmen will be meeting on Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, due to the regular meeting night falling on Thanksgiving. The town office will be closed Thursday and Friday, Nov. 28 and 29.

West Paris taxpayers are reminded that Wednesday, Nov. 27, is the last day for payment of taxes without interest being charged. Payments in the mail postmarked prior to Dec. 1 will be accepted without interest.

At their regular meeting last Thursday evening, the West Paris selectmen decided to request that Central Maine Power Company conduct an energy audit of the municipal building.

Town meeting will decide fate of Stowell offer

The Woodstock Board of Selectmen have decided to put the question of whether or not to discontinue the Stowell access road before a special town meeting. The meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, Dec. 3, starting at seven o'clock, the selectmen said last night. Another warrant article will ask that $5,000 be appropriated from surplus to be applied to the winter roads account.

The action by the selectmen comes in response to a written proposal by the new owners of the Stowell mill that the town vote on the question of giving up the road in return for $25,000.

Selectman Ethel Davis said, "The town's going to make the decision—we're not."

The proposal has five main points:
•The town would discontinue the road;
•The title to the road would be transferred to Stowell Products, Inc.;
•There would be no public easement over the road;

•The company would grant access to town vehicles, but the town would assume any liability;
•Upon closing of the agreement, Stowell would give the town $25,000.

Earlier, Stowell Operations Manager Bob Bickford had told The Citizen the company would not tie the offer of money to receipt of title to the road. "Our interest is to try to compensate them (the townspeople) for the twenty thousand they lost in back taxes," Mr. Bickford continued on Page Three

What do you know about summit?

For two points, what's the most important task facing President Reagan and Chairman Gorbachev at the summit concluding in Geneva today?

If you answered "a chance to get to know each other," you're excused. If you answered "arms control," please answer the following—for another two points: What is the Soviet proposal on arms control and what is the American proposal? For a bonus point, outline the basics of the SALT II agreement. To go to the head of the class recite the principles of the Anti-Ballistic Missile treaty.

If you did well on this short quiz, it probably means you read and view a lot wider assortment of news than most of us. If you did poorly on the quiz, it would seem to indicate that the national media has been feeding us too much on the atmospherics of the summit and not enough on the basic bargaining positions of the two superpowers. bfw

Letters to the Editor

Many thanks,

To the Editor:

I am writing to thank you for (the) editorial support of Referendum Question Six in the recent Nov. 5 election. (The) positive endorsement of this bond issue for Maine's historic properties played a vital role in informing the public of the need for a statewide restoration program.

I am pleased to report that the Commission has already been contacted by numerous non-profit organizations seeking to participate in this program. My agency will be making its first grants early next spring in anticipation of the 1986 construction season.

Again, many thanks for helping make this effort to preserve Maine's heritage a reality.

After reading the article on megabucks in last week's paper, I felt I should write. I do not have any connections with anyone in the lottery or lottery commission.

To the Editor:

May I take this opportunity to express my opinion on the high school band director. It was my understanding that SAD #44 hired Mr. Davis to direct the school band. I feel that we no longer have a director for the band, but for the community band. I was very upset when I learned last year that we were no longer going to have a marching band because he felt that he needed a year to teach us how to play and march. Now I've learned that the community band is taking over all the things that the high school band should be doing. I was always proud to march and felt that everyone enjoyed having us march. I hope the school will see to it that the high school marching band is brought back. A former band student

To the Editor:

Bethel has lost one of its most devoted out-of-state boosters with the death of Walter Scott, a gentle and unassuming man who was a summer visitor here for more than 30 years. How much he enjoyed his time in Bethel each year, always exclaiming to me its joys from the cares and noise of Boston. He avidly followed Bethel events through the pages of the Citizen and I was always impressed by his seemingly total recall of items he had read during the past year.

He also was a strong believer in the work of the Bethel Historical Society and recalled for me this year his memories of that first summer of its existence in 1966. He told me that the historical society news was the first column he turned to when his Citizen arrived each week and he took enormous pride in its success.

All of us who knew Walter Scott will remember his modest and kindly manner. Beneath that modesty and good

WHAT'S NEW AT BETHEL SAVINGS BANK

Beginning in December and continuing through the winter months, the Main Office of the Bethel Savings Bank will offer coffee and doughnuts on the third of each month. This is a time when many Senior Citizens come to the bank. Hopefully, this will enable some of the bank's customers to take a few minutes to warm up before going out into the winter cold.

Credit for this new service goes to Janine Buck, Customer Service Representative, who is always thinking of new ways to assist customers of the bank.

ERIC WIGHT TO HOLD AUTOGRAPH SESSION NOV. 26

Eric Wight, a Maine game warden for 20 years, will be at Mills' Market in Andover next Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, from 6 to 9 o'clock to autograph copies of his book, "Maine Warden Service." Copies of the book will be on sale.

State 1918 club meets

On Nov. 16 seventy-four members and thirty-eight guests from Maine Chapter #7 and Vermont Chapter #22 of the 1918 Club gathered at the Harvest House in Lisbon for a holiday banquet and meeting.

Vice President Albert Judkins, West Peru, led the flag salute; Past President, John Downes Jr., Portland, offered the prayer. A roll call, by tables, introduced members from 39 towns and cities in Maine and two from Vermont.

Past President, Harold Sanborn, Cape Elizabeth, installed the 1986 officers: Treasurer, Robert Webb, Westbrook; Vice President, Albert Judkins, West Peru, and President and Secretary, Violet Swain, East Andover. She was presented a certificate of award for "Outstanding Service to the Maine Club." Recognized were the three outgoing officers, Edna Fournier, Westbrook; Edna Rollins, Waterboro, and Phyllis Bellimer, Scarborough. Each were presented a corsage from the club. President Swain, who is serving a second term, also received a corsage.

Discussed compiling a cook book by Maine Chapter #17 members. It was voted to start the project. President Swain will appoint a committee.

Meeting places for 1986 were presented: Jan. 25, Bangor; March 29, Sanford-Biddeford area; May 31, Brunswick; July 26, boat trip at Naples; Sept. 27, South Paris; Nov. 15, Lisbon.

Dorothy Barden, Old Orchard, historian of the Maine Chapter gave a report on the activities of the club for the past 11 years.

There was an exchange of gifts and special drawings for donated gifts.

The Maine Chapter #7 is a part of an International Club organized in 1960. Anyone born in 1918 is eligible to become a member. If interested contact Violet Swain, P.O. Box 7, East Andover, Maine 04226 for information.

Following dinner, Tammy and Jay Roy, Rumford, entertained the group with musical numbers.

humor was an extensive knowledge of music—so much so that Robert J. Lurtsema of Public Radio's Morning Pro Musica in noting Walter's passing gave him an extensive tribute. This provides some indication of his stature in the field, plus the fact that Walter was often consulted by musicians from throughout the northeast eager to tap his expertise of musical scores.

It will be a different summer indeed in 1986 without Walter's usual visit and his great enthusiasm for Bethel.

Kill totals climb as hunt season nears end

With just over a week left in hunting season, deer kills continued to outpace last year's totals. Local tagging stations reported the following numbers:

At Bob's Corner Store, in Locke Mills, 17 deer were tagged. No bear.

At the Trap Corner Store, in West Paris, 30 deer were tagged; 2 bear. Westleigh's Auto Service, in Bethel, has so far tagged 27 deer, 10 bear.

At Mills Market, in Andover, 28 deer have been tagged. No bear.

At the Bear River Cabins tagging station, in Newry, 11 deer and 15 bear have been tagged. This number is down from past years, and owner Arthur Gauthier says, "Maybe the deer are going where the people are."

County conference IV set for March 22

The Oxford County Conference IV planning committee has set Saturday, March 22, as the date of the 1986 conference. This decision was made at a recent meeting held in the conference room at the Oxford County Jail, under the direction of Cathy Newell, of Bethel, chairman of the committee.

A discussion took place during the meeting concerning the purpose of the conference, concluding that the largest portion of people who attended the county conferences are those who provide services, including non-agency people, such as teachers, law enforcement personnel, town officials, volunteers, the clergy and those directly involved with services for the low-income.

The format for the March conference will include workshops of seven concurrent sessions, allowing those attending to sit in on which ever sessions they are most interested in. The conference will open with the keynote speech presentation and will close with special activities.

Several sub-committees will be appointed to make plans for possible workshop topics. The need for special publicity was mentioned and the idea of a pre-conference lecture prior to the conference to be held on Friday night was suggested.

Those attending the meeting included: Cathy Newell, SAD #44 director of adult education, Bethel; Judith Green, SAD #17 director of adult education, South Paris; Richard Pollack; Michael Taylor; Douglas Trotter and Nancy Taylor, representing the clergy; and Patti Saarinen, representing John Grassi of Mountain Valley Training.

The next meeting is scheduled to be held at the Oxford County Jail Tuesday, Dec. 3, 9:30 to 11 a.m.

MURDER SUSPECT ARRESTED

morning in an East Stoneham store, where he had stopped for coffee on his way to work. When he did not return home that night, and when his wife discovered he had never made it to work, she reported him as missing.

His body was found Sunday afternoon in a field off Town Farm Road, in Paris, near where Bradley had camped. Medical examiners said the victim had been dead a couple of days by the time the body was found.

Mr. Stevens died of multiple gunshot wounds to the head and chest. Police declined to say if the gunshots were made by any of the three guns the victim was known to have in his pickup truck.

Late Monday night, an arrest warrant was issued for young Bradley. The youth is already facing burglary charges in district court stemming from an alleged burglary at Tut's Store, in North Waterford Oct. 15.

Police said Bradley skipped a probable cause hearing in that case and had been saying he wanted to get out of the area—maybe go to Florida.

The Waterford town clerk said the Bradley family was new in town—living there about six months—having originally come from Presque Isle. Mr. Bradley Sr. works on a construction project in Oxford. Bradley Jr. was unemployed.

The murder has, understandably, had a strong impact on local residents. "We ain't too happy about it," said Wayne Warren, of Warren's Service Station, in Waterford, "because Russell (Stevens) was a pretty nice guy."

The skydanes are full of wings, for wending their way are the wild geese honking on their journey southward. They must find it a lovely old world wherever they look from the blue of the sky to the babbling brook.

This is mid November and many of the mornings have dawned ominously. There seems to be no other way to express it. The sun was hidden by gray skies and the weather man each day said, "There is a threat of rain." So what to do but increase indoor activities which I did. However there were times when I ventured outside.

The chill in the air at dawn seemed strange and penetrating because it was the first real chill of autumn. Sometimes there were gusts of swirling winds, often rising suddenly out of quiet peace. There was a booming in the chimney and a rattle of windows. Soon we will get used to it and our faces will tingle pleasantly. After the gusts and chills have waned, again it will be tranquil though not as warm as before.

The growing chill invigorates but is not unmixed with nostalgia for summer. The year has come to its maturity, growth climaxes in nature's bounty. November closes its doorway on autumn. But the summer past races through my mind. I can still visualize, clearly, nostalgically, the golden sunny days, the summer showers, birds, flowers, trees, insects, sounds and odors, people, brooks and trails.

The countdown for winter has come.

Tuesday brought snow and freezing rain but the Tuesday Club met with Dorothy Betts at her home for the afternoon. Katie Tamminen was unable to be with us for she was a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Doris Hayes had an interesting weekend with her many visitors: Mr. and Mrs. Terry Spire and son from New Hampshire; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hayes and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Scot Hayes and son, West Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hayes, local; Glenn Hayes, Gray. They enjoyed a dinner out and other meals at home. Some were there the entire weekend; others returned home earlier.

David, Sally and Mary Holt and Ann Holt were at their parents' home on Sunday. Clyde and I visited with them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Betts were in Portsmouth, N.H., a few days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brennan of Seekonk, Mass., were at their cottage here over the weekend.

Fay Holt and son Robert were in Boston on Wednesday to see their eye specialist.

As we look out our windows this day after Armistice or Veterans Day, just 24 hours behind us, we are being treated to a short preview of what is bound to come. Rain turned to a glazing of ice, with intermittent overlays of snow, outlining lawns and meadows. Frozen sleet tingled and smarted against ones face as harsh winds delighted in pelting them at every turn. Bare birches' tousled grey heads for moments wore crowns of vibrant diamonds, just as resplendent as the priceless "moon drop tiara" worn at the Washington ball by Princess Dianna when she and the prince completed their whirlwind visit there last week.

Walls of woodlands encircling the valleys, seem to resemble icy pre-historic fortresses, transporting one to imagination to a storybook fantasy, cherished long ago when but a child.

The cement walk to the house is treacherous and gleaming and bears watching as it seems to delight in tripping one to a fall. All during the morning birds pop in and out of the feeders, as the bright red of the suet bags adds a welcome spot of color to the dreary landscape.

Inside the logs in the fireplace are releasing their summer heat to warm us and the teakettle whistles a sleepy song upon the old black cookstove in the kitchen, ready at a moment's notice to provide a spot of tea, for all those who should want to enter.

So we are in for winter again as we usually get it in these parts, four months of it too, with a wedge into springtime for good measure, I suppose.

There will be ice storms, some below zero weather, mixed with good clean cold sunny days, plus a few blizzards to keep us on our toes, or from getting soft, and bad days when the best thing to do is stay home.

But if anyone would take the time and trouble to add up the good days against the bad, they would find a lot more of the good in any season. Did we not harvest, after a dry summer this year?

In any event, I'll take a four season climate to live in, for with all its variety, who can really get bored and besides when all else fails we can lay it to the weather. How about you? Till next week then, peace!

Stan and Lillian Moulton spent last Monday in Portsmouth and Kittery as Stan had a doctor's appointment.

C. R. Cole went to the doctor in Rumford and is feeling as well as can be expected. He has enjoyed a visit recently by Albert Taylor and son Jeff, and friend Francis, over the holiday weekend. The younger Taylor enjoyed a weekend of hunting here.

Denise Adams and two children, Joshua and Jessica, called on us on Saturday.

Colista Cogswell, Freeport, was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis, for the weekend. Stephen Cogswell is spending his vacation there to do some hunting. Other visitors were granddaughter, Lee Ann Searles, husband, Dale, and two children, Farmington, and Evelyn Heikinen, Mexico.

Tri-Town Rescue

Congratulations to the Advanced First Aid Class that passed its state ambulance licensing exam Thursday night. Recent graduates are Grace Archer, Bryant Pond; Paul Hodsdon, Oxford; Marc Barton, Bryant Pond; Dennis Smith, Locke Mills; Diane Todd, West Paris; Kathy Scherf, Bryant Pond; and Harlan Abbott, North Paris. Not all of these people will join Tri-Town Rescue, but many have said they want to be a part of the team. The service is looking forward to these new members.

The board of directors is meeting Nov. 24 at 3 p.m. at Mary Emery's house in West Paris to finalize the 1986 budget. All ambulance personnel officers are requested to attend to add input into the upcoming budget.

The Thanksgiving basket fund-raiser is going well. It will be given away Thursday at Penley's Corporation in West Paris.

Safety Tip of the Week

Thanksgiving is upon us. May the season be a full and rich one for you and your family. It is a time for many in our communities to remember those without family members. Several groups have planned Thanksgiving meals for senior citizens who might not be invited to their own families for the holidays.

Good health has a lot to do with good mental health and a positive outlook on life. Sometimes just a phone call to those alone during the holidays can mean a lot. Each of us knows someone who is alone. Reach out during Thanksgiving to call that person. By doing so, you might be amazed at the result.

Many ambulance calls for bad hearts or difficulty breathing are aggravated by emotional situations—not just the extreme of suicide brought on by depression. And a positive outlook has a fantastic treatment healing value for cancer treatment.

Today, Wednesday started out cloudy but the sun managed to push through some and we were glad to see it. It was raining quite hard when we left the house this morning to go to Oxford to try to find some used auto parts, but we saw the sun before we got back home. We also made a stop at a fabric store. What beautiful cloth they have! I love to sew, when I can find the time, and they have the most gorgeous material to make most anything anyone could wish to make. Spent a little there getting cloth for Christmas gifts and of course, it was more than I should have spent. I always wish I was rich when I go into a cloth store. I could spend a fortune and then not have all the cloth I would like to have. After we found the auto parts place and got what we wanted, we went out the road onto Route 26 to the top of Pigeon Hill and back through Welchville and to Norway. Did a little shopping and got some items to make a Thanksgiving centerpiece. I never used cones to do any arts and crafts before, but have enjoyed playing with them this year and admiring the finished product. It can be lots of fun to use pine cones, spruce or hemlock, and Russell went out the other day and got a lot of them for me as I had used the most of what I had been given. A little warmth and getting them dry makes them open up so one has some real pretty cones to work with and of different colors. He also brought home some acorns even though they had separated and they look good in the centerpiece I have made. Hope to make another one soon.

Went to my daughter's in Lewiston this past weekend and expect to go again this coming weekend. Took care of the girls and did some housework plus some cooking while there. Took some crocheting along, but she had a puzzle on the card table and I like to do them so sat down to that when I had a chance. Had gone to Bethel Thursday to see the doctor as my ribs are still bothering me and needed a treatment all over. Did a wash and got things ready to go down to Wyna's on Friday afternoon. She has so many meetings and is so busy trying to keep three jobs going that she needs help at times.

Knew we were going to my sister, Laura's home on Sunday so wanted to do a little cooking for the dinner we were to have there; a kind of Thanksgiving before Peggy heads south this coming Saturday. I baked peas and made two pies along with taking care of the girls. It isn't easy now as it used to be and I get tired easily. Saturday night, Nonie and I went shopping after supper as long as Michael was home to take care of Courtney. We took Karliann along with us. Got a pair of boots I needed so badly for this winter and a few other items but not many.

Sunday morning, we got up and got going early as we had said we would be here to meet Peggy and Russell by ten o'clock. Thought we had to pick up Laura's daughter and family, but they found a way to get to East Andover. Peggy had gone along to get them and we waited for Russell's cooking to get done before going up the road. We had a good gathering. I believe there were 23 of us there. The house was full, anyway. We sure had a bountiful meal and, of course, there had to be something that I was allergic to so got stuffed up and haven't gotten over it completely as yet. Feels like it had started a cold for me; just what I need. I get them whether I need them or not. It was nice to have so many of the family together for a nice dinner, anyway. We should do it more often.

Was tired and stuffy on Monday and didn't do too much. Should have been as busy as a bee, but didn't feel up to it, so took it a little easy.

Tuesday was my day to go to North Bridgton to my doctor and we also stopped to see about snow tires as it was snowing some for the first time this year. It turned to freezing rain at times and we had to be careful, especially when stopping. I will be glad to get snow treads on; of course, they don't keep one from sliding when it is slippery, but I feel safer through the winter with snow treads. Also got to have a little more work done on the car so made arrangements for that.

Did a little sewing this afternoon and have lots more to do to get ready for Christmas. Got knitting and crocheting on the go, too, so you can see I try to keep busy and out of mischief.

Russell is watching TV, while I am typing this and guess I will join him for a little while, but will keep my fingers busy so no time will be wasted.

Bryce and Barbara Yates are visiting Peggy tonight. Mary Farwell Smith visited her Monday afternoon and she was in Bethel and Rumford this forenoon,

No. East Lovell By PAULINE SMITH

I picked mayflowers this past week. Ed Holt called on friends here Saturday.

The Donald Gregsons of Osterville, Mass., spent the weekend here at their home. They are Dana Gregson's folks. Michael Fox worked for Arthur Weeks this week.

Leroy and Pauline Smith had a turkey dinner with their daughter, Beverly Bassett and husband Jack and daughter, Brenda Coughingham, and son Bruce Sunday evening.

Peter Fox and family called on Iva, his mother, recently.

Thirty-four senior citizens enjoyed dinner at Punkin Valley Wednesday.

Edith Holt had lunch with Ruth Fox Wednesday.

Eddie McAllister and son are logging for John Fox on the Sabattus Road.

Eight were out to the Faith Sharing Group which is still studying the book of Psalms.

so she is busy getting ready to head south on Saturday.

Had a call from a neighbor telling me that West Paris Grange will be having a food and craft and what-not sale on Dec. 7 from 9 a.m. until after lunch. Anyone having crafts to sell is welcome to attend. She said there would be no charge for the tables; they want to draw interest and the ladies are trying to get money to put in an escalator or something like it to help the older people get upstairs easier. So many have trouble climbing stairs that they stay home and the Grange would like to make it easier for them. I think it is a great thing they are trying to do and wish them all the luck in the world. When the halls were made, the meeting halls were all made upstairs and as the Granges consist of mostly older people, it would be a great benefit to have help to get up the stairs. Hope many will come and help in this grand effort they are putting forth.

Guess I have written enough but I would like to say as Russell has, it is sure different riding along now. One can see so many things through the trees along the roadside that were hidden by the leaves. It may be good or not so good, but at least, it is different and interesting.

A surprise 25th wedding anniversary party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Andrews at the home of her mother, Mrs. Christine Kimball Sunday afternoon, Nov. 10. The affair was arranged by their children, Lynn-deanne and Ray Andrews Jr. Mrs. Andrews is the former Deanna Rugg. Forth-three relatives and friends helped them celebrate the occasion. Traditional refreshments were served including the anniversary cake made by Mrs. Christine Kimball and decorated by her granddaughter.

Mrs. Christine Kimball was called to Monmouth the first of the week by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Iva Burgess. She lapsed into a coma and passed away Tuesday. Jimmy and Christine and Carleton Rugg attended the funeral services in Monmouth and interment service in North Yarmouth Thursday. One night on her way home from Monmouth the first of the week, coming home via Streaked Mountain, Christine had a strange encounter of the moose kind. Neither car nor animal was damaged.

Lawrence Kimball returned home from Norway hospital last Saturday after undergoing tests there.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lescault and little son were in West Paris last weekend to help his brother, Martin, celebrate his 16th birthday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lescault. Several of Martin's friends from Oxford Hills also joined the party and furnished the cake. Many nice gifts were received by Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hindman of Windham were overnight visitors Sunday of Mrs. Elmira Doyen.

Callers this week have been Mrs. Becky Kendall, Mrs. Phyllis Bancroft, Mrs. Merle Stone of South Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Adams and Derek of Hanover.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Swan were Anita, Kristal, Michelle and Jennifer Straight of Bethel, Vermont, and Annabel Snodgrass of Sidney, Australia. Annabel is a Rotary International Exchange Student, hosted by the Rotary Club of Bethel, Vermont, and sponsored by the Rotary Club of Kur-Ing Gai, Sidney, Australia, and will be staying with the Straights until January.

The subject of Pastor Hanscom's message Sunday morning was "Teach Me, O Lord," with scripture readings from Deuteronomy 6:1-9; Hebrew 7:23-28; and Mark 12:28-34.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wight, Rumford, called on Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wight Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn Withers, Hanover, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wight attended the Western Regional Meeting of the MSA in Lisbon Thursday evening, Nov. 7, as representatives of the Windy Valleys Snowmobile Club.

The Windy Valleys Snowmobile Club will hold their November meeting on Thursday, the 21st at the Club Room. A 6:30 potluck supper will precede the 7:30 meeting. Guests will be the Ride-In '86 committee. With the newly fallen snow the riding season is upon us—new members, old member, guests, all are welcomed.

The Mothers Club met Nov. 11, at the Club House with Nancy Wight presiding. The opening prayer and notes of the last meeting were read by Peggy Wight.

Plans were made for Thanksgiving baskets for Newry citizens, with Sylvia Wight and Betsy Clark on the committee. The next meeting will be the Christmas party, with exchange of gifts and the revealing of Secret Pals for the year.

This is to be held at the Sunday River Inn on Dec. 9, with Peggy Wight as hostess. Refreshments were served by Eleanor Davis, Nancy Wight and Helen Morton.

Diane Saunders and Dot Bean were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Rose, Dover, Mass., recently. They traveled there to attend a wedding at Paul Revere Church in Wellesley and the reception which was held at Quincy Market.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flint of Fairfield, Conn., spent the holiday weekend with his mother, Mrs. Leona Flint.

Linda Gilbert is at home again, recovering from her recent hospitalization.

I've gotten a few reports on cablevision. Mrs. Jay Willard and Mrs. Guy Gibbs both say the reception is good and they're enjoying it. Hold on Bethel, it'll get to the rest of us soon...I hope!

Sandra Gunther related a story to me on the phone just the other night. Seems there was a little excitement at her house on Nov. 9. Sandra heard what sounded like an explosion and upon further investigation found a partridge had gone through her window! There was glass everywhere, including the highchair where her 16 month old granddaughter, Ashley, was sitting. Ashley escaped unharmed, but the same can't be said about the bird. It had to be put out of its misery. On its way through the window, the bird trimmed Sandra's spider plant!

After all that excitement you'd think Ashley would have a tale to tell, wouldn't you? Nope, not this kid. "Poor bird," was her comment. Leave it to a little one to pass up the excitement and do a social commentary on a dead bird!

vent! Well, you won't see my Christmas decorations up until December 11!

For those of you who remember my old friend, Chief Chagagagomanchaugagagagagagagagagag—Chief for short—here is his winter snowfall prediction. For Bethel, we should have 16 snowfalls. For those lucky folks in Upton, it will be 27. Don't bother asking me; Chief made the prognostications. I'm beginning to think that old Chief has lost more than a few of his feathers.

A lovely luncheon was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Clough. It was a "goodbye and good luck" luncheon for Vi Micklon who will be gone from Gould by the time this copy reaches you. Those attending the luncheon were Polly Davis, Alberta Merrill, Fran Bernier, Barbara Harington, Barbara Merrill, Fran Bernier.

I'm certainly going to miss Vi's bubbly personality. She's made my first month at Gould a very interesting time. Thanks, Vi.

There's always a critic in the crowd...I was at work and a certain gentleman, who shall remain nameless, commented that he wholeheartedly agreed with my last column...it was very uninformative. We have said gentleman's picture on the door of our office and if he isn't careful, we'll pluck him and roast him for Thanksgiving dinner.

Jaime's famous! Jaime's picture and a small description is part of the holiday issue of Gatlins. I sent my friend Linda Reynolds a picture of Jaime in her Mollycoddle Day costume and float and she put it in the newsletter. Now I have to get more copies of the newsletter to give to the proud grandparents, great-grandparents and a few other folks.

Enjoy the snow, everyone? Thought for the Week: "People often say that this or that person has not yet found himself. But the self is not something that one finds. It is something one creates."—Thomas Szasz

THE SENSE OF TOUCH.

Touch Calling makes a lot of sense. It's faster and more convenient to use, of course, than a rotary dial. And more fun, too.

But most important, with Touch Call service from Contel you will have access to the many exciting new electronic services that will be coming in the future. And you wouldn't want to be out of touch.

Little Manda Miclon became two years old on Nov. 11. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Miclon tendered her a birthday party Sunday afternoon. The table was decorated for the occasion and streamers graced the corner. Manda was able to open many gifts and her dad took several pictures of her. Others attending were her paternal grandparents, Raymond and Mary Miclon; maternal grandparents, Arthur Boisvert, Vivian Downing, Cheri and Jim Record and son Jami, Maureen Miclon and Olive Davis. Ice cream and cake were enjoyed.

Our first snow fell Tuesday, Nov. 12. It was very slippery in places.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks and Olive Davis attended the historical society meeting held at the schoolhouse Saturday evening.

The Blue Ridge Junction band took part in the award show held at Waterville Oct. 27. The members in the band are Bill Proctor, Kris Miclon, Steve Thulow, Phil Ring and Larry Moody. The band won fourth place in the country band modern category. Bill Proctor and Kris Miclon won fourth place for duets. Kris won an award for the most promising female and Bill for most improved male. They all received trophies.

The Tri-Town Rescue unit held a night search session Sunday on the Davis up place. The ones presumably lost were Dean Benson and Ken Bacon. Ken was treated for a broken leg. Their clues were footprints, clothing and calling. There were six or eight of the rescue unit who responded for this practice.

Roger Benson, Leon Baker, Craig Ryerson and Ronnie Deegan spent this week in the "North Country" hunting. I understand they have snow in that area.

Tri-Town Rescue has a suggestion. Good directions are essential for good ambulance service. Not all attendants are familiar with the landmarks in all four towns. If someone agrees to meet the ambulance at a certain point in the road, please make yourself visible. Also, make sure directions given to the sheriff's office for the ambulance are accurate. This might make the difference in life or death.

ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE AT WOODSTOCK SCHOOL

The Woodstock Elementary School's innovative grant, "A Ripple in the Pond," in continuing this week, on Nov. 19, 20 and 21, with their second artist-in-residence, Rick Charette.

He is working with grades kindergarten through six performing some of his original works. Under his guidance, some of the classes will be writing their own lyrics and setting them to music. Other classes will be doing a variety of musical activities.

Mr. Charette will be doing an evening performance on Tuesday, Nov. 26 at 7 p.m. in the Woodstock School Gymnasium. The public is invited for these performances.

periences have given her an opportunity to re-evaluate her faith, and her priorities in life, they are brought into sharp focus in the film series, Blessings Out of Brokenness.

Edith Deegan, Woodstock, was an overnight guest of Irene Wilson on Saturday. Steven and Shirley Walker, Bethel, were out on Monday and Alan Wilson, Waterbury, visited on Wednesday.

Bob and Mona Lowe have a grandson—their first. An 8 lb. 2 oz. boy was born to Alan and Christine Lowe in Korea on Nov. 9. He joins a sister, Mary Ann. When Bob and Mona received the announcement, a name hadn't been decided upon. Alan is stationed at Camp Casey and his address is: E6 Alan Lowe 007-46-1566, Box 103, HHC 2/72, Armor BN, APO San Francisco, CA 96224-0345.

That was a nasty storm we had on Thursday. It only reinforces the opinion that you can't rely on the weather forecast. According to the television forecast we were to get rain Thursday night, but it was raining before eight that morning. Now we get that familiar but almost forgotten taste of sand dust in our mouths which will stay with us 'til spring no doubt.

SKI SEASON BEGINS: Relying on man-made snow, Sunday River Ski Resort opened its slopes to skiers last Saturday—the first area in Maine to open this season. The skiers above were on the new Fall Line double chair and were getting set to ski down on what was described as "powder" and "packed powder." Not all trails are open yet, and reduced rates are in effect until all the slopes are covered.

Notes from Woodstock Historical Society

Here is a description of a New York society woman about 30 years ago:

"Claire did up the six buttons which made her trousers cling so smartly around her calf. These trousers were far and away the newest things. A famous designer had adapted them from the pants worn by Cypriot goatherds. They were much tighter than treader trousers and infinitely smarter. Next year, of course, everybody would be wearing them — even women who shouldn't — but right now they were exclusive with Claire's firm and practically exclusive with Claire. She smoothed down her blouse, adapted by the same famous designer, from a Portuguese vintner's smock; adjusted the bracelet adapted from an Indo-Chinese handkerchief; and thrust her long, lean feet into thong

Rose has a special thank you for the officer who kept her from falling into the water. A few minutes later, Will was grateful for the same help from someone else. That water was cold!

Health Tip

The time it takes the body to heal after an injury may be prolonged by infection, which is the result of bacteria growth within the body tissues.

Careful cleansing of an open wound helps to reduce the amount of bacteria, thereby reducing the chance of infection. Bacteria tend to multiply quickly in dead tissue because white cells that ordinarily attack bacteria can't get through to the site of injury. The threat of tetanus (lock-jaw) must never be overlooked in cases of open wounds.

Signs and symptoms of infection include swelling, redness, a sensation of heat, throbbing pain and point tenderness of the affected part. There may also be fever, evidence of pus, swollen lymph glands, or red streaks leading from the wound.

Immobilize the infected area, keep the patient lying down, elevate the affected part, apply moist warm packs for 30 minutes, sterile dressings for 30 minutes and repeat. Contact your doctor immediately — he/she may want to see the patient as soon as possible.

House included a Christian school group from Rumford and the trustees of the Bridgton Historical Society.

Latest town histories added to the holding of the Society's Eva Bean Research Room are Riddell's "Saco Valley Settlements and Families," Hatch's "History of Industry, Maine," and Dearborn's "History of Parsonsfield, Maine." These and other research materials may be consulted each weekday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and by special arrangement.

sandals adapted from a pair in a van der Weyden drawing of Jesus. Claire had doubts about the sandals. There was a rumor along upper Fifth that they'd already been copied, strap for strap, in the two-ninety-five market. Even so, the costume was indescribably smart. Snatching up her purse — an adaptation of a cussar's rucksack — she made her fashionable way down the stairs.

Annie Crockett has donated some postcards and photos of Woodstock to the society. Mary Billings is planning a program on local history for Woodstock Elementary School youngsters. Various society members will make the presentations.
